HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—Slowly, but steadily and inexorably, the James administration today began a sweep of state posts, replacing Democratic holdovers of the Earle administration with Republican appointees. Forty-five thousand jobs are expected to change hands.

Plan Job Slashes
Setting the pace was the induction into office of 14 of Governor James' 16 cabinet appointees. All immediately took over their departments with orders from Governor James to rigidly inspect payrolls for possible job slashes. Governor James' appointees for secretary of revenue and motor police commissioner—William J. Hamilton and Major Lynn G. Adams, respectively—will receive a senate hearing Monday at which Democratic senators will be given the opportunity to inter-temperate them.

Varied duties and problems incident to the setting up of a new administration faced Gov. Arthur H. James, Pennsylvania's new chief executive, as the Republican administration swept into action. Summed up briefly they included:

Factors In Change
1.—A determination by the governor of the legal status of two temporary Earle cabinet holdovers. Secretary of Revenue J. Griffith Boardman and Motor Police Commissioner Percy W. Foot. There was some doubt as to whether they could continue to act.

2.—The appointment of deputy (Continued On Page Two)

Lawrence County, Pa. T. U. plans to place a bookshelf on temperance in the local public library.

Pa News met in Harrisburg last week a newspaperwoman who knew New Castle only as the home of that "grand hotel," The Castleton. She said she discovered The Castleton accidentally a few years ago, and since then has always made New Castle her "stopping off place."

City snow plow was operated on some of the main travelled highways yesterday and the deep accumulation of snow and ice cleared off the traffic lanes and piled up in the gutters. The city's action made travel much easier for motorists on the streets.

Pa News notes that boys sled riding in various parts of the city are again hitching onto the rear of automobiles to steal a ride. This is a dangerous practice, because often the driver does not know the boys are there, and a sudden stop might hurt the riders under the wheels of the car. Parents should admonish their children not to do this.

Some people seem to believe that automobile horns have the power to perform miracles. One of the numerous hill roads in the Pittsburgh district was blocked Wednesday.

Thirty Four Youths Want Annapolis Appointment

By ARTHUR C. WINER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Thirty-four youths from the Lawrence-Butler-Beaver congressional district have asked to be given the preliminary competitive examination for the vacancy at Annapolis Naval Academy to be filled this year by Representative Louis Graham, of Beaver.

The preliminary examination will be conducted by the Civil Service Commission, February 4, at the New Castle, Butler and Beaver Falls post offices.

Eleven young men have filed their names with the congressman for examination at New Castle, 11 for examination at Butler and 12 for the Beaver Falls test.

From the list of those passing the preliminary test, Congressman Graham will name a principal and three alternate candidates for the Annapolis vacancy. All will take the entrance examinations at the academy in March, and the principal candidate will be appointed if he passes these quizzes. Alternates will be eligible in order of their priority if the principal fails.

President's Estimates On Funds Cut Down

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The house appropriations committee today served an additional economy notice on the administration when it approved the second deficiency bill of the current session with 26 per cent lopped off President Roosevelt's estimates, and on the largest item, hurricane relief, the committee demanded that the states share the cost.

The action of the committee appeared to be more of a measure of its policy than an actual yardstick of dollars and cents frugality. The total of the bill recommended was only $9,979,000, but it represented a reduction of $3,550,000 from Mr. Roosevelt's original estimates, which totaled $13,529,000.

The decision on hurricane relief for New England States was unprecedented since the advent of the new Deal. The forestry service of the agriculture department sought $3,000,000 to repair damage done to woodlands in the New England States, but the committee slashed the sum to $3,000,000 and wrote in a legislative restriction requiring the (Continued On Page Two)

MARGIOTTI AGAIN BEFORE PROBERS

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—Dauphin county's grand jury investigating alleged irregularities in the displaced Earle administration today was expected to make additional presentments shortly.

Though no definite announcement was forthcoming from either District Attorney Carl E. Shelly or presiding Judge Paul N. Schaeffer, indications pointed to further presentments soon.

The September grand jury now hearing testimony, however, cannot hand down further indictments. Its power to indict was stripped from it by law on January 16. It can now only make presentments which may be acted upon by the January grand jury after a recall of all witnesses listed in the presentment. The January jurors are now in recess, subject to recall.

Margiotti Is Heard
Former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, chief accuser of the ousted Earle government, made his second appearance before the jurors yesterday. While political observers were not accepting Margiotti's testimony.

Miss Perkins, the only woman member of President Roosevelt's cabinet, had been invited by the women's student association to address its annual "famous women night" next month.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Senate administration leaders started an uphill fight today in support of President Roosevelt's request for an emergency appropriation of $725,000,000 to carry on the WPA until June 30.

It was generally conceded, however, that the odds were against the administration's effort to increase the $725,000,000 fund voted by the house. The indications were that almost all of the 23 Republicans will vote for the $725,000,000 total. With the Democratic ranks split wide

Expect Hopkins To Be Confirmed

"Politics In Relief" Prior

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Senate confirmation of former WPA administrator Harry L. Hopkins as secretary of commerce was expected later today but not before his opponents have aired the "politics in relief" issue.

That Hopkins' administration of relief funds will remain as the chief target of his opponents was indicated by the strictly party-line vote of the senate commerce committee which recommended confirmation.

Those taken into custody yesterday, as the culmination of an investigation launched by "Squire Lawrence" J. Gibb, an auditor in the controller's office, were Justice of the Peace Earl S. Faust, of Castle Shannon; Constable John Dempsey; Deputy Constables Joseph Amick and Joseph Nolle, and S. B. Frankel, auditor and collector for a downtown clothing store.

They were accused of using "high pressure" methods in collecting bad bills. The arrests came as a sudden climax to an investigation of the minor judiciary, started when Dr. Charles C. Stanton, Ingomar physician, committed suicide after shooting a constable and two real estate agents as they attempted to levy on his car.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President Roosevelt today called upon congress to end tax exemptions on federal, state and municipal bonds and salaries.

In a special message, he declared:

"A fair and effective progressive income tax and a huge perpetual reserve of tax-exempt bonds could not exist side-by-side. Those who earn their livelihood from government should bear the same tax burden as those who earn livelihood in private employment."

The chief executive expressed the opinion that judicial decision alone might permit elimination of these immunities but he said clarifying legislation would be necessary to supplement these decisions.

Cause Of Message
Mr. Roosevelt's message was immediately prompted by the supreme court decision in the port of New York authority case which held the salary of an employee of that agency was taxable but the federal government, as well as interest on its bonds.

He warned that unless congress acted promptly the secretary of the treasury would be obliged under that decision to collect back taxes for at least three years on the employees of many state agencies and the security holders of many state corporate instrumentalities "who mistakenly but in good faith believed they were tax-exempt."

Mr. Roosevelt indicated he does (Continued On Page Two)

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—House opponents of the Dies un-American activities investigating committee were lining up today to support Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins in the impeachment proceeding Rep. Thomas (R) of New Jersey, said he will institute against her next week.

Thomas, a member of the Dies committee, which was criticized by President Roosevelt and other administration leaders for its procedure in the inquiry intends to ask the house to vote impeachment proceedings on his constitution secretary Perkins has failed to enforce the deportation laws.

The issue between the labor department and the Dies committee was brought up in debate in the house yesterday when Rep. Dempsey (D) of New Mexico, accused the department of inconsistency in enforcing the deportation laws. He cited the department's action in deferring deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, West coast CIO maritime leader, pending a supreme court decision in a similar case.

Townsend Plan Backers Are Dissatisfied With Plan For Testimony

MAY DECIDE TO BOYCOTT HEARINGS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Washington, Jan. 19.—Threats of backers of the Townsend old-age pension program to boycott hearings on revision of the Social Security Act presaged a bitter congressional battle today over liberalization of old-age pensions.

Although Chairman Doughton (D) of North Carolina, of the house ways and means committee, announced that the committee will hear bills of all Senate Act revision bills beginning February 1, the Townsend leaders expressed dissatisfaction.

Why About Hearing
"We feel very about a hearing because we feel they will baffle bills and give us a few minutes to present a case which would require a week," said Otis Bounia, legislative agent of the Townsend organization. "There is no comparison between our plan and many other proposals. Ours is a recovery program. We don't believe that the committee will grant us the necessary time."

"Information we have been given indicates that they will exclude some of our witnesses. We feel that we are not going to get what we have sought for four years—an honest hearing."

Chairman Doughton insisted that every organization or individual who can shed light on the entire security movement "will be welcomed before our committee."

If the Townsendites boycott the hearing, their leaders in congress are expected to launch an independent movement to bring their plan to the house floor by the petition method.

To Cut State Payroll
The problem of how to cut the state payroll in line with Governor James' economy program will be taken up in a few days at a cabinet meeting at which the new administration officials will report the results of their surveys. Democrats already are charging that instead of reductions in the payroll there are increases and point to the house where Republicans re-established several posts abolished during the Earle administration.

The question of the legal status of Revenue Secretary Boardman and Motor Police Commissioner Foote pending the confirmation of their successors was expected to be settled soon.

There was some doubt, Governor James told newspapermen, over whether they were legally entitled to act as administrative heads in view of the change of administrations. Boardman offered to resign, but Governor James asked him to carry on until he arrived at a decision. If Attorney General Claude T. Reno rules they cannot continue to act, the situation, said to be without precedent, could be solved by their resigning and by having their deputy secretaries designated as acting secretaries until Hamilton and Adams are confirmed.

Complete Senate Reorganization
In the senate, the Republicans completed their reorganization of the upper chamber by electing their own slate of senate employees in place of the Democratic slate elected on January 3. A few Democratic appointments were retained. Committee appointments were also announced, following which the senate gave first reading to five house relief bills and then adjourned until Monday night. The bills transfer $34,000,000 from special state funds for relief purposes, with $12,000,000 of this being immediately appropriated for relief.

Indications that the Democratic senators did not look with equanimity upon the loss of patronage was clearly apparent. Sen. Anthony J. Cavalcante, Fayette Democrat and an authority on parliamentary and constitutional law, made it evident that the Republican majority would henceforth have to contend with his rapier-like parliamentary thrusts during the long months ahead.

brought with him an eye-witness account of one of the most remarkable road building feats in history—construction by Chinese coolies of a modern motor highway.

So strategically important is this highway that military experts assert it may be the vital means of China turning back the tide of Japan's invading armies.

Johnson was the first white man, and virtually the first of any travelers, to traverse the newly-completed military highway, which the Chinese built through 2,100 miles of mountainous country to Burma and the sea at the cost of almost super-human effort.

The road runs from China's provisional capital, Chungking, over 1,400 miles of high mountains and narrow defiles to the Burma border, and thence 700 miles to Rangoon, the British port outlet to the Indian Ocean.

It was built after the Japanese army and navy had seized the Chinese seaports and inland railroads, and France, on the threat of Japan to seize Hainan Island, had closed the railroad into South China from Hanoi in Indo-China.

With the exception of a tortuous caravan trail across Central Mongolia to Soviet Russia, it is China's only link with the outside world for military supplies.

Travel Highway in 12 Days
Johnson, accompanied by Maj. James M. McHugh, U. S. Army, assistant military attaché of the American embassy, and the Chinese official in charge of the new highway, traversed China's new hope in twelve days. They made the journey in a light American-made automobile without a puncture or mishap.

"The road is a magnificent, almost unbelievable achievement," Johnson said. "It was built entirely by hand labor without any modern road construction machinery. It was laid out, surveyed and built by coolies. Bullock carts were used to haul the dirt and rock for the fills. Stone rollers carved out of rock by hand were used to smooth out the roadbed. The incredible feat was accomplished in seven months. Hundreds of thousands of native laborers did the work."

Francisco's Forces Seeking To Cut Railway Lines

claimed Barcelona's defenders were still holding up the Insurgent advance against Igualada.

Bring Up Reinforcements
In a desperate move to bolster its weakened lines, the Spanish government was reported bringing four shiploads of military reinforcements up the east coast from the Valencia and Madrid fronts to Barcelona.

The ships are attempting to run the Insurgent naval blockade despite the dangers of night navigation, according to the advances.

Comprising 12,000 troops, the reinforcements were placed aboard the transports at Valencia, forty-eight thousand more will follow, it was stated.

Seek To Stem Advance
These advances were not officially confirmed, but they indicated a desperate government attempt to stem the Insurgent Catalan "win the war" offensive which brought new victories to the Franco forces, including capture of strategic Pons, commanding the broad highway running north to the French frontier and to the Barcelona-Paris railway.

This line has served as a main artery for transporting supplies from France to the Spanish government. In addition, Franco's headquarters claimed occupation of the villages of Loran and Cal Llan in the central Catalan district and the Losa Jesus Heights along the coastal road leading to Barcelona from recently occupied Tarragona.

EXPECT SENATE TO STAND ON $725,000,000
the members disclosing a majority standing pat for $725,000,000. Some want to increase the amount; others to reduce it, but the consensus was the final figure approved would be $725,000,000.

Chairman Adams (D) of Colorado, who conferred with President Roosevelt last night on the bill had to make up his mind today on the amount of money the measure should carry.

"I have always hoped that we could get along with $725,000,000, but I am still studying the figures submitted by the WPA," Adams said.

Challenge Estimate
Senators favoring the $725,000,000 figure challenged the administration's estimate that from 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 WPA workers and their dependents would have to be cut-off for relief if the senate approves the $500,000,000 reduction cited by the house. They estimated that only about 600,000 enrollees would be dropped—the usual number, they contended, that are discharged from the relief rolls in the spring to enter private employment with the seasonal business pickup.

Senator Borah (R) of Idaho and Bone (D) of Washington, urged approval of the $875,000,000 fund.

not hold with the theory that a constitutional amendment is necessary to eliminate tax exemptions.

Judicial Decision Might Suffice
"The tax immunities heretofore accorded to private income derived from government securities or government employment are not in accordance with the requirements of the constitution," he said. "I repeat that it is not unreasonable to hope that judicial decision would permit the elimination of these immunities."

It is obvious, however, that these inequities cannot be satisfactorily corrected by judicial decisions alone. Without legislation to supplement them, many individuals and corporations will be subjected to tax liabilities for income received in past years which they mistakenly but in good faith believed to be tax exempt.

In the interest of equity and justice immediate legislation is required to prevent recent judicial decision from operating in such a retroactive fashion as to impose tax liability on these innocent employees and investors for salaries heretofore earned, or on income derived from securities heretofore issued.

giotti's appearance as the foundation on which to base claims for additional presentments, they did recall that immediately following the former attorney general's first appearance the grand jury indicted former secretary of the commonwealth David L. Lawrence.

Lawrence yesterday posted bail bond of $10,000. No date has been set for the trial, but it most likely will be during the March session of court.

Cohen Subpoenaed
At the same time, it was revealed that Rep. Herbert B. Cohen, York Democrat who headed the house graft probe committee during the special session of the legislature, had been subpoenaed. Scheduled to appear today, Cohen conferred with Judge Schaeffer and was excused, probably until Monday.

Cohen bumped into Margiotti at grand jury headquarters yesterday but ignored the ex-justice department head's cheery greeting. The two had numerous verbal tiffs during the house probe.

The subpoena served on Cohen requires him to bring with him certain documents presented to the house committee. A majority of the Democratic-controlled probe committee exonerated the 14 accused Democrats, but a minority report filed by Republicans Ellwood J. Turner, now speaker of the house, and David Perry, Blair, termed the investigation a "whitewash."

In addition to Margiotti, H. J. Wild, Clarion, furniture manufacturer representative, A. C. Craumer, Lebanon contractor; Delaney P. Robinson, Harrisburg, and Miss Sophia Royer, a file clerk in the justice department, appeared before the grand jury yesterday.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DINNER TABLE EDUCATION

It seems to me there is nothing at school or in the home that offers so many possibilities for the education of the growing child as the family meal. With all the family children are encouraged to talk but let others talk. The parents and older children discuss matters worth talking about, and where each member of the family exercises great regard for the rights and feelings of every other member, the family meal is of great benefit.

But the dinner hour cannot be educationally wholesome in a jittery atmosphere. There must be an air of calm, poise and composure. How can it be with the radio a-roaring? If the "straws" are fair samples, at least a third of the families of America have the radio turned on during the dinner hour. Then, either there is silence by the parents and children, or the talk is loud enough to rise above the din, each member of the family talking a little louder than the other, each a little more vexed and agitated. Except for soft, quiet music, radio programs and meals don't mix well. You and I know homes in which the dinner hour with the family together is considered so precious that always then the radio is silent.

Keep Them Away
Most specialists in the field of child guidance advise parents to keep children away from the family dinner table until they are eight or nine. They, of course, are thinking of the child's eating problems, not his social education. Fortunately are those children whose parents have the wisdom and self-control to train their tots to learn to eat well and enjoyably with the family group, as early as the child can do so without undue fatigue.

You know what Benjamin Franklin tells us in his Autobiography about his education at the dinner table. Referring to his father, he writes:

"At his table he liked to have, as often as he could, some sensible friend or neighbor to converse with and always took care to convert some ingenious or useful topic for discourse, which might tend to improve the minds of his children. By this means he turned our attention to what was good, just and prudent in the conduct of life; and little or no notice was ever taken of what related to the victuals on the table, whether it was well or ill dressed, in or out of season, of good or bad flavor, preferable or inferior to this or that other thing of the kind, so that I was brought up to such a perfect inattention to those matters as to be quite indifferent what kind of food was set before me, and so unobservant of it, that to this day if I am asked I can scarce tell a few hours after dinner what I dined upon. This has been a convenience to me in travelling, where my companions have been sometimes very unhappy for want of a suitable gratification of their more delicate tastes, because better instructed, tastes and appetites."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THAT GRANGER STATE

With all this tremendous expenditure of money by the National Congress and by the legislators of the Granger states, this absolutely willful spend-thrift spending, it is refreshing to remember that there is one State in the Union that does not do this thing. Strange as it may seem, it is a State which is represented in the United States Senate by George Norris, one of the most willful spenders in Congress; one of the most communistic of all Senators. It is the State of Nebraska.

Nebraska has for its Governor, Robert Le Roy Cochran (Roy to everybody), who is now serving his third consecutive term as Governor of this State, which has become the outstanding example of fiscal virtue in the Nation. Nebraska has no public debt whatever; no income taxes, no sales taxes, nothing but property, school and motor taxes. This State has a balanced budget. Speaking in Los Angeles recently, Governor Cochran said:

"It is easy, merely avoid utopian schemes as far as is possible. Keep taxation and expenditures local. That way each county will think it is spending a dollar. I think $30 every month is worse than $30 every year. Why? Because $30 every month might last and it is not sound to give old people fixed pensions. In Nebraska we take care of them on the basis of individual need. I believe 'pay-as-you-go' is basically sound everywhere."

Now, Nebraska is known as one of the "corn" States. The principal industry of Nebraska is farming, and take it year in and year out, Nebraska farmers have prospered. I talked to one of these farmers at North Platte last fall and he said "I own four farms in Nebraska. I do not like Secretary Wallace's idea of farm regimentation at all. If it ever becomes a fixed policy of the Government to compel our farmers to farm so many acres, raise so many hogs, so many steers and so many cows, I am going to sell my farms for what I can get for them and go to Canada. I won't stand for it." The service station man at which Nebraska farmers have prospered, told me after the farmer had left that he was one of the very well-to-do farmers of Nebraska. He asked for no assistance whatsoever from any man. He did not owe a dollar. His farms were clear and while he might have a poor crop on one farm, he had a good crop on another.

It gets very warm in Nebraska in the summer and very cold in the winter. It is an ideal State for a red-blooded American in which to live—one that is not afraid of the heat and is not afraid of the cold, and it is sticking to its guns.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:02. Sun rises tomorrow 7:20.

At last they have an actress to play "Scarlet" in "Gone With The Wind." She is an English actress. There are some things we have to go out of this country for yet.

The search for high-grade men is endless.

Don't forget, taxpayers, that the best place to meet is at the polls at election time. That is the only time you can get the things you want if you listen to others than bullhorns.

Good business sense always commands a good price in the open market.

Faith is the continuation of reason.—William Adams.

"Sacred to the memory of Eben Harvey, who departed this life suddenly and unexpectedly by a car accident on the 15th of September, 1853. Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

One of the best things that could happen in this country right now is for those who are trying to run things in Washington to try to figure out what is the best thing to do to help the people. So many of those birds down there only use their heads to keep their ears apart.

We call it "pull," but if you had to choose a helper, would you pick somebody you know, or risk a stranger?

It takes ingenuity to frame a hardluck story in such a way that the listener has no alternative but to fork over the cash.

Wonder what kind of auto parking some birds think they are doing when they don't put a nickel in the slot and let the rear wheels of their cars stand three or four feet from the curb. That can be seen scores of times every day in this town.

Wrong Diagnosis
Doctor (to his daughter): "Did you tell the young man that I think he's no good?"
Daughter: "Yes, dad, but that didn't faze him. He said it wasn't the first wrong diagnosis you made."
—Type Graphic.

The maiden aunt, all smiles, after the visitor left, asked: "What is that minister's name?" "That wasn't a minister," she was told. "He was a specialist sent by the doctor." "Oh," she replied, "I thought he was a little familiar for a minister."

The chief need of most men is a long look ahead.

Weather Forecast
Judge (in traffic court): "I'll let you off with a fine this time, but another day I'll send you to jail."
Driver: "That's what I expected."
Judge: "What do you mean?"
Driver: "Fine today—cooler tomorrow."

That all-gone feeling can sometimes be cured by sipping hot tea or munching aspirin tablets. If the symptoms persist, see your doctor or bartender.

Politics have been sort of murmuring and whispering and feeling in this county for some time, but now that the big event in Harrisburg is over things will begin to sizzle politically. There will be plenty of time for the voters to get an idea of what they should do—if they don't keep their eyes shut.

A little school girl offered the following composition on anatomy: "Anatomy is the human body. It is divided into three separate parts, the head, the chest and the stom-

"Here's where you get off, sonny," he said.

"How dare you call me sonny!" the kid remonstrated. "You're not my father."
"I know," came the elevator man's reply, "but I brought you up, didn't I?"

When people get to the place where they don't care, others don't care much about them either.

Readers' Questions Answered
Dear Miss Market—I have a set of fruit knives. When and where should they be placed on the table?
V. T.
Answer—They should be used whenever fruit is served. The fruit fork and knife are not placed on the table when it is set. They are brought in with the dessert. When the fruit plate with the finger bowl and a dolly between are brought in, the fork should be placed on the left side of the finger bowl and the knife on the right side.

Spying Done At Conference
Peruvian Detectives Caught
Hull Tries To Deny Facts

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull's first interview, following his arrival in the United States from the Pan-American conference in Lima, Peru, was funny in a way, but in another way it was unfortunate.

As previously has been remarked, that conference, while not 100 per cent satisfactory from Uncle Sam's standpoint, was about 85 or 90 per cent satisfactory. Eighty-five or 90 was pretty good, and Secretary Hull doubtless considered himself entitled to a reasonable share of congratulations on his return home. Instead the reporters who scrambled on board his boat even before it had docked at Manhattan, immediately began questioning him concerning stories of spying on the Pan-American delegates during their stay in Lima.

For diplomatic reasons, of course the secretary should not have lost his temper, saying that he "didn't go smelling around at the conference, to find objects of criticism." At the same time it is impossible not to take a sympathetic attitude toward his explanation that he "didn't want the whole thing to degenerate into a little sensational story that some individual wrote and have the public forget that there was such a thing as the Lima conference."

That is just what might happen if the spy story became predominant over the remainder of the performance.

Spies at Lima?
However, Secretary Hull's cue was to pool-pooch the spy yarn, lightly and affably; not to show signs of irritation over it. By manifesting irritation he only has advertised it. His observation that he didn't "go smelling" wasn't even a denial.

Now, in the best interest of all concerned, let us recognize, if we know what we are talking about, that the author of that spy tale assuredly is the best informed Pan-American newspaperman in the western hemisphere—John W. White, once a Yankee reporter at home, later of the U. S. consular service in the Argentine, subsequently the A. P.'s Buenos Aires correspondent, finally the New York Times' chief representative in the southern Latin republics.

For a third of a century John White has lived below or in the neighborhood of the equator. His family is Latin American. He not only speaks the language like a native, he has the temperament.

Up here we have newspapermen who are as good as he is few better, but ours haven't his southern-hemispherical comprehension. There also are Latin Americans who unquestionably comprehend their area as well as he does (possibly a bit better). But John is a composite. The cuss is unique.

Since he says that Peruvian detectives were surprised "searching the files and desks in the office of Green R. Hackworth and Ben N. Cherminton" of the Yankee staff in Lima, I believe it.

Secretary Hull himself does not say it is not so; he simply does not like to have it emphasized.

What of it? What of it anyway? We must be tolerant. Our G-men have been tolerably interfering.

Who cares if Peru's corresponding G-men are Peru's?

John White is recording only what he sees. I think he sees correctly. My judgment is that he is a useful Yankee observer.

And valuable!
John is an old friend of mine. I'm "FER" him.

Diplomacy had better take him into consideration.

What Noted People Say

NEW YORK.—Nelson T. Johnson, American ambassador to China, rushing to report to President Roosevelt.

"The Chinese people are hopeful of an eventual victory."

CHICAGO.—Matthew Well, vice president of the American Federation of Labor:

"Just as business in its early stages lost sight of the public interest so government today has lost sight of the private interest."

NEW YORK.—Maj. Benjamin H. Namm, Brooklyn merchant, warning the National Retail Dry Goods Association of approaching problems:

"Let us all realize that it was the American system, the competitive system of doing business, that brought this country the success and leadership that made us the envy of the entire civilized world."

HATE
I wonder at the early dawn
When spring is dancing on the lawn
And tulips deck the garden gate
How men can rise from bed to hate.

And when the sun is overhead,
When men at noon are breaking bread,
I wonder then how morals can
Hold hatreds long for any man.

At evening when the sun slips down
And leaves to moon and stars the town
I wonder then how men can be Disturbed by cant and bigotry.

Since man's allotted years are few,
And oh, so swiftly hurried through,
It seems to me a blunder great
To waste one day of them in hate.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

A Trap For Congress?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.

SOMETHING more than a mere disposition to be independent was revealed in Congress when the House cut $150,000,000 from Mr. Roosevelt's relief request, and the Senate Committee's proposals for remodeling and revamping the whole relief setup, submitted by Senator Byrnes, of South Carolina, were so favorably received.

FOR one thing, the action in both branches was clearly a reflection of what Congress thinks the November election returns meant. It was evidence that, regardless of the Roosevelt belief that the New Deal reverses in so many States were due to "local issues," Congress thinks popular dissatisfaction with the relief administration and reaction against the reckless pouring out of money had a great deal to do with them. For another thing, behind the Senate and House attitude there simmers a certain amount of both suspicion and resentment toward Mr. Roosevelt, which, if those who reflect the so-called "inner circle" can be relied upon, is not without reason.

THERE is, for example, a feeling that in asking for the huge sum of $675,000,000 the President not only failed to be frank with the country but was particularly lacking in candor toward Congress. Actually, what happened, some are pointing out, is that the White House calculatedly set a trap for Congress, planned to put members of Congress "in bad" with their constituents. It is unnecessary to say that the average Representative and Senator would resent this more than almost anything else that could be done to him.

THE basis of this notion is an article printed just after the House had made its cut and written by journalists recognized as always well posted as to Administration strategy and having confidential relations with the leading strategists. In this it was flatly asserted that the President deliberately had asked for a very much larger appropriation than needed on the theory that Congress was sure to cut it freely. That would react against Congress and in his favor. Members of Congress, it was thought, would be certain to hear reprovers from the Mayors and Governors of their districts and States and, sharply, from their constituents. In brief, they would put themselves in the position of being callous to human suffering and more susceptible to the heartless claims of the Wall Street budget balancers than the pitiable appeals of the distressed unemployed, which would be in striking contrast to the Great Humanitarian in the White House. The net effect would be to strengthen the President and render the lawmakers more amenable to his wishes after the lesson.

THAT, in effect, is the way the situation seemed to those who worked out the details, although credit for the general idea was given to Mayor LaGuardia of New York, who was at the White House before the actual figure was decided upon. As things stand, the palace politicians are congratulating themselves on their cleverness. So far from the reduction from $675,000,000 to $525,000,000 being a defeat for the President, it will rebound to his advantage. When final action is taken Congress will be loaded with full responsibility for drastic pruning of the relief rolls, not the President. That's the way they argue.

IT IS ALL very subtle and smart, but there are several reasons why, perhaps it won't work out according to plan. One is because the rolls really do need pruning and the reduction is inevitable. Another is that the White House strategists are misjudging sentiment in the districts and States. They are too much inclined to regard Mr. David LaSser, head of the Communist-American Workers Alliance, as the representative of public opinion on relief questions. Still another is that publication of the fact that the President asked for a needlessly large sum with the idea of putting Congress in a hole, as unresponsive to the unemployed rather nullifies the whole idea.

CONCEIVABLY, that kind of scheme might be effective if it were operated with every outward evidence of good faith, but when it is made public property and its sponsors gleefully anticipate the fruits of their cleverness, the results may be very different, indeed. If the facts are as reported and percolate to the people generally it will seem another demonstration of politics in relief—this time with the President himself playing the leading role. They will strengthen the growing conviction that there has been an incredible waste of public money in relief administration and an indefensible mixture of politics therein from which the White House itself is not free. Nor will there be facts increase reliance upon the accuracy of White House statements on the national needs.

Say one thing for dumb animals. They don't grow up crooked, awkward, runty and untidy to type because of dumb treatment.

Bible Thought For Today

Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time; Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you.—1 Peter 5:6-7.

Hints On Etiquette

It is not in very good taste to send a printed card of condolence to a friend who has suffered bereavement. A personal note, no matter how short, is preferable.

If you scare people into paying tribute, it is a racket. If a statesman does it, it is a great victory.

Women More Nervous Than Men Applicants For Auto Driving Tests, It Is Noted

Observation at the state motor police testing station here shows that women are more nervous than men when they apply for the privilege of operating a motor vehicle in Pennsylvania.

Further, observation shows that in many instances persons who have been accorded the privilege have failed to study the motor vehicle laws of Pennsylvania.

In many instances, persons who have applied for a test have approached the motor police with a feeling of pessimism instead of optimism. However, they are given no cause by officers to possess such a spirit because motor police are courteous and helpful to applicants. The male who applies for a test usually is optimistic.

Providing a learner has received proper tutoring by a licensed operator he or she should have no feeling of awe upon stepping into the station, located in Sampson street. It has been an observation that those who have not been properly taught betray it.

Tests Held Tuesday
The tests are held each Tuesday between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. The applicants receive an examination in the order of their arrival at the station. There is no chitchat on position in line.

The applicant is questioned by a state officer relative to his name and address and whether or not he is crippled or his vision is affected. Providing answers are satisfactory he signs an application test blank.

The learner next is instructed to read a distance chart which contains information necessary to operators. The test which follows is one to determine whether or not the applicant is color blind. Few are found color blind.

When these tests are found satisfactory the state officer accompanies the learner to the vehicle to be employed in the driving test. It may be a La Salle, Ford, in fact, any kind of a car.

Cars Inspected
However, the new car, despite the fact it is usually in proper mechanical condition, is inspected for defects. Old cars are closely scrutinized. Headlights, mirrors and other accessories are tested on all cars.

Should the rear light not illuminate, the test is postponed until it has been repaired, likewise headlights. In fact, safety can only be obtained by cars in good condition, according to motor police.

If the learner and car are both found satisfactory to this point the applicant is requested to enter the car for the actual driving test which 99 times out of 100 is the easiest phase of all, for the prospect.

The officer accompanies the driver on the test. He takes a mental note of how the person starts the car. Sometimes the prospect is nervous and stalls the engine.

However, finally the car gets under way. At some point in the carway the officer instructs the "operator" to turn the car. "This sometimes is the most difficult task."

Sampson street does not possess a very wide roadway. However, it is sufficiently wide for one who has been taught properly to turn.

No Trickery In Test
And it may be said at this point that there has been said at different times that state motor police otherwise the examination will be delayed until the card is signed. In fact, while officers are courteous they must enforce regulations.

Observation shows that a person who has a car in good working condition and has been taught to drive properly and has diligently studied the motor laws has a splendid opportunity of passing.

The officers take into consideration the fact that some people become nervous when they take the test. Some people look upon an officer with awe. There is no reason for this, one stating some time ago: "Officers are human. We are here to serve. None of us is a dictator. The only request we make is that the applicant do his best. It depends upon the tutor and applicant if the latter does or does not pass. Proper tutoring is vital."

Revival Meetings Commence Tonight

Revival meetings will begin tonight at the Gospel Mission, 413 Croton avenue. Rev. Helen D. Wilson from Goshen, O., will be the evangelist. Rev. Wilson held successful meetings here last summer.

The services will begin each evening at 7:30. There will be special messages in song each night and a good song service.

Services will include Saturday and continued through next week. Words fool you. One who gives a little kid many noise-making toys is called a "friend of the family."

Three Confess To Extortion Plot In Buffalo, New York

(International News Service)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Federal agents reported Wednesday they had obtained complete confessions from a 22-year-old iron worker and the two sisters he is charged with forcing to join him in an attempt to extort $1500 from Mayor Thomas K. Holling on a threat of defacing his wife and daughter with acid.

The youth, Bogusius Grzybow-sky, made a tearful plea of innocence upon arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Boyce H. Butterfield. He was held in $10,000 bail for a further hearing. Bail of $1,000 each as material witnesses was fixed for the sisters, Salomea, 21, and Adeline, 14.

The three were trapped by F.B.I. agents when one of the girls attempted to retrieve a dummy package left in the cellar of a designated building by a policeman dressed as a woman. One of the girls said she wrote the letter at the insistence of her brother, according to G-men.

"PAINS GLORIOUSLY RELIEVED," DECLARES JOYFUL PENNA. MAN

Could barely get around at times, but now tells how Vendol has made him feel like a new person.

MR. WILLIAM RAISOR

"Vendol has done me world's of good," says Mr. William Raisor of 520 Ash St., Erie, Pa. "Constipation had bothered me for quite a while, but recently seemed everything went wrong when the constipation was worse. I had such aches and pains in my arms, shoulders, back and limbs that I thought I was full of rheumatism. Many a night these pains kept me awake and the agony was so bad some times I could hardly keep going. In addition to these pains, I often had spells of indigestion which caused gas, belching, tight feeling in my stomach, shortness of breath, a queasy feeling, and I seldom got good restful sleep. 'This went on for months, then I read how Vendol was helping people all around here, so I got a treatment. It gave the most satisfying relief from constipation, then the aches, pains, indigestion and other troubles gradually disappeared and today I'm like a different person. I can't too strongly advise those suffering like I did to start taking Vendol without delay."

Vendol is sold and highly recommended by druggists everywhere, and you can always get Vendol at New Castle Drug Co., 33 East Washington St. and 24 North Mill St., and at Eckerd's and People's.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Do you feel a phobia flaring? Phobias are far from funny. There are literally thousands of them.

Acrophobia is the dread of being at a great height.

Agoraphobia is fear of being alone in a large open space.

Anthrophobia is the dislike or dread of flowers.

Apiphobia is the dread of bees and their stings.

Astraphobia is a great fear of lightning.

Patience and sympathy are needed for those with phobias.

Most persons have some sort of phobia or fancy.

Some even suffer from phobophobia.

This is fear of one's own fears.

Near Future To See Order Brought Out Of Tax Chaos

Such Is Prediction Made To General Assembly Of Council
Of State Governments

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The near future may see order brought out of the "tax chaos" which now exists between the states and the federal government, Gov. Roy L. Cochran of Nebraska declared on Wednesday, in opening the fourth general assembly of the council of state governments.

Cochran, speaking as president of the council, called for elimination of interstate trade barriers, asserting that "there are as many or more points of friction, trade walls, and conflict among the states as at any time since the signing of the constitution."

The Nebraska executive told more than 300 representatives of the 48 state governments attending the meeting that the "tax chaos" has resulted "from the hundreds of examples of tax duplication between units of government."

"Renewed efforts will be made during the next two years to revive negotiations between the states, the federal treasury department, and committees of the United States Congress on the problem of conflicting taxation," Cochran said.

"Much groundwork has been done by our commissions on conflicting taxation. If we are to judge from the president's recent message to congress, the time is approaching when the federal and state authorities can sit down and bring some order out of the tax chaos resulting from hundreds of examples of tax duplication between units of government."

Highway safety, liquor control, unified banking and insurance laws, and conservation of national resources were suggested by the governor as other fields for interstate cooperation.

Bishop Of Erie Coming To City

Visit Will Be Paid To Local
Episcopalians On Evening
Of January 29

Preparations have been in progress for the coming of the Bishop of Erie, Rt. Rev. Dr. John C. Ward, to Trinity church on the evening of Sunday, January 29 at 7:30 o'clock, since the middle of October when the rector, the Rev. Philip C. Pearson, organized classes for adults and for boys and girls. These groups have met once a week, sometimes oftener, to receive a regular course of instruction in the principles of the Christian religion, the relation of the churches to one another, and the interpretation which the Episcopal church has received down through the centuries. Full opportunity has been given for free discussion and the asking and answering of questions.

As a part of the educational work of the parish, in which they are vitally interested, the teachers and officers of the church school at their January meeting requested that the junior choir sing with the senior choir on this occasion. Arrangements are being perfected to carry out this plan at the rehearsals this week.

The Rev. Charles J. Burton and the people of St. Andrew's, New Castle and St. Luke's, Ellwood City, have accepted the invitation to attend. Mr. Burton will have a part in the service.

Bishop Ward will deliver his annual message to the people of Trinity parish as the special preacher of the evening.

"FASHIONS FOR MEN"

Minor Judiciary Names Officers

Last Year's Group Is Re-elected
At Meeting In Alderman Mantz's Office

Election of officers and an address by assistant District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson featured the meeting of the Minor Judiciary and Constables Association of Lawrence county in the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz, Tuesday evening.

Mr. Donaldson's address was on procedure and proved enlightening to the justices and aldermen of the county. The office of Justice of the Peace was traced back to 1066, the office of constable being created at a later date.

The officers who have served since the association was formed during the past year, were continued for 1939. They are: president, H. E. Strohecker, of Enon Valley; vice president, O. H. P. Green, of New Castle; secretary, Miss Edna M. Robinson, of R. F. D. No. 2, New Castle; and treasurer, Harry L. Clark, R. F. D. No. 1, New Castle; legislative committee, appointed by the president, L. C. Mantz, chairman; O. H. P. Green, and H. M. Reynolds.

Bicycle Rider Fatally Hurt

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 18.—Struck by a car as he rode his bicycle home from school late Wednesday afternoon, Ellwood Kiser, 16-year old rural youth, suffered a fractured skull and crushed chest that caused his death a half hour later in Spencer hospital here.

Private E. M. Rose, state motor police, who investigated, said tonight that Charles E. Schoof, R. D. Conneautville, driver of the car, was exonerated.

Schoof swerved his car to the side of the road in an attempt to avoid striking the bicyclist, who became confused, when his cycle skidded on the slippery pavement, Rose said.

The mishap occurred north of here on Route 98, almost within sight of the youth's home near Little Corners. The victim's mother is Mrs. Hazel Kiser.

Please, please, don't leave an unsecured open fire where there is a little kid.

They Used To Call Her
"Old Witch"
Children weren't the only ones who considered her "crabby"—her adult acquaintances felt that way too. They avoided her because she was a chronic pessimist. They didn't know that faulty eyesight distorted her outlook. Since wearing glasses her whole personality has been transformed!

Ice On Final Leg Of Journey

Expected To Arrive At New Castle Airport Sometime
During Day

William Ice, of Boyles avenue, is on the last leg of his New Castle to Miami-and-return air trip. Ice took part in a mass flight of small planes to the Miami Air Races, and is now returning.

The local pilot and his mother, Mrs. W. P. Ice, who is his passenger, spent Wednesday at the Allegheny County Airport in Pittsburgh.

According to a dispatch received here, Ice planned to take off from Pittsburgh today for New Castle, and expects to land at the New Castle Airport sometime today.

In his letter, Ice stated that it was necessary to fly at about 6000 feet when crossing the Allegheny mountains between Washington, D. C. and Pittsburgh. Since striking Maryland, Ice reports an abundance of snow on the ground, quite a contrast from the sunny land of Florida that he left but a short time ago.

Ice had a little trouble bringing his airplane down at New Cumberland, Md., due to the snow covered field. Snow binds the wheels of a plane and if care is not taken it will turn over.

All along the entire route, Ice stated that he was treated with courtesy and kindness, after landing at the various airports, and the airport managers and people in the cities are more than cordial to flyers.

You avoid troubles by never having a hangover. You see, troubles flock in when you are down and out, so you keep them out by not getting that way.

Twelve New Air Bases Are Asked By Navy

Bases Recommended Include Fortification Of Island Of Guam

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Acting with President Roosevelt's approval, the Navy department today asked congress to authorize the construction of twelve new naval air bases, including the fortification of the tiny Pacific island of Guam—the subject of a harsh controversy between the United States and Japan.

To carry out this phase of President Roosevelt's $552,000,000 rearmament program, the navy proposed that the congress appropriate $65,000,000 for the construction of the vital bases, with $5,000,000 of the amount to be used over a four-year period to establish a submarine and air facilities at Guam.

The recommended bases are: Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii; Midway Island; Wake Island; Johnston Island; Palmyra Island; Kodiak, Alaska; Sitka, Alaska; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Pensacola, Fla.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Pearl Harbor, Hawaii and Guam.

A bill to carry out the navy's proposals was immediately introduced in the house by Chairman Vinson of the naval affairs committee and he announced that his committee would start public hearings next Wednesday, with Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, and Rear Admiral Arthur H. Heppner, author of the controversial Hepburn report which proposed the fortification at Guam, as the opening witnesses.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CHILD'S HEALTH CANNOT BE JUDGED ENTIRELY BY WEIGHT

There are still a few important observations about weight I want to make before I pass from the subject.

A child of average weight at birth should weigh about twelve pounds when he is three months; sixteen pounds at six months; 18 pounds at nine months. When an average, healthy child is five months old, he has about doubled his birth weight; at twelve months, he has nearly tripled it.

During the first week healthy infants gain steadily in weight; there may be periods of a week or two at a time when no gain is made, but usually it is because the child isn't well or because the heat has been too much for it.

On the other hand, one cannot afford to judge a baby's healthiness entirely by weight. I have known children who gained normally in weight, but who were retarded in strength and development.

After a child has reached the age of one year, weight gains are seldom so regular. There are many interruptions, some depending on season; others occurring without any apparent cause.

Hand in hand with the weight of a child goes feeding. If the child is normal and healthy, proper feeding means proper weight gains.

If your child is being breast-fed, then you really haven't much to worry about with regard to the feedings. These take care of themselves naturally. Sometime, however, feedings have to be prepared. To do this scientifically, a measure has been evolved which is called a calorie. Calories supply the heat—the energy—to keep the child living and to give strength to his body in its development. The normal infant requires forty of these calories per day for every pound it weighs.

The Quintuplets were premature children; they were much weaker than normal and they needed more calories to give them strength. So when they were two weeks old they were being given 50 calories each per day per pound. In fact, we went even farther than just increasing the units each received. We knew that since Marie was smallest and weakest of the five, she required a larger proportion of calories than did Yvonne, who was largest and strongest of all. So we kept up this increased caloric consumption until the babies were ten months old when they were put on a steady 50 calories per day per pound basis.

Now as to the feeding of weak, or premature children:

The first day the Quints were alive, they were fed nothing but warm water, given to them through an eye-dropper, ten to fifteen drops at a time. On the second day, we added a little milk and corn syrup to the water, and fed them 30 to 60 drops at a time—still through the eye-dropper. This is a standard feeding used in most hospitals.

These feedings were kept up every two hours for three weeks. The feedings were then spaced every 2 and one-half hours, and then every three.

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Writer—The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Pennsylvania has to her credit for new highway and grade crossing projects a grand total of $12,488,344, according to Bureau of Public Roads figures.

Of this total, $5,982,867 has just been allotted the state by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. This amount does not become actually available until next July 1, but the state can at once contract for construction with it. Of the $5,982,867, a total of $4,854,211 is for roads, $4,231,088 being for federal-aid highways and $683,103 for federal and secondary roads. The residue of $1,128,616 is for grade crossing improvements.

In addition to this new appropriation, Pennsylvania has from funds previously allotted a remaining balance of $6,505,477. Of this total, $1,829,173 is for federal-aid highways, $179,398 for secondary or feeder roads, $4,287,179 for grade crossing improvements and $209,727 for miscellaneous road projects.

Proposes Changes In Wagner Labor Act

Missouri Congressman Would Repeal Wagner Act And
Substitute New Measure

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Repeal of the Wagner Labor Act and substitution of a law designed to protect bargaining was proposed in a bill introduced in the House Wednesday by Rep. Anderson (D) Missouri.

A frequent critic of the national labor relations board, Anderson proposed to take from the board its power of "judge and jury" and leave with it only powers of investigation and prosecution.

The labor board, under the bill, would go into United States district courts on complaints of violation of the act. The courts then would issue orders, such as reinstatement of workers and award of back pay. Under present law the labor board makes findings and circuit courts of appeals enforce them.

The Anderson bill also bans aliens or persons convicted of felonies as representatives of labor unions. It requires elections among employees before charges of failure to bargain can be launched against employers.

"The law as it is now written, and the board as it is now constituted, combine to create the greatest menace to our national defense," said Anderson.

"The working man must be protected. He must be protected against a host of labor racketeers masquerading under the label of labor leaders, as well as unscrupulous employers."

Anderson asserted that prosperity cannot return until the Wagner Act is changed. The Missouri representative's bill brought the hot issue of Wagner Act modification squarely before administration leaders, who have declined to take responsibility for proposing changes. Many of these administration supporters favor review of the Wagner and other new acts, but it has been made plain that they do not want to force action along this line. The final showdown may be delayed for months, and meanwhile John L. Lewis and his CIO are waging a stiff fight to prevent any such modification of the labor law.

The government didn't give away billions in the old days. It just passed laws enabling the big fellows to take it.

Report Upheaval Of Regimented Labor In Soviet Russia

Censors Hide Real Situation

Dispatches Seeping Across Borders Also Hint At New "Purges"

DISMAL PICTURE SEEN IN RUSSIA

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
(Copyright, 1939)

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Behind the high walls of Bolshevik censorship and but little known to the world at large, an upheaval of regimented labor is taking place in Soviet Russia today.

Its full extent and its gravity as a real or potential threat to the rule of Josef Stalin are matters for keen conjecture.

Reports reaching London and Berlin talk of a "rebellion of peasants and workers." Dispatches seeping across the borders hint darkly of new "purges," tell of the desperate measures being taken by the Soviet Secret police to put down what would appear to be virtual insurrection.

May Be Exaggerated

These may all be exaggerated, although the controlled Soviet press itself has admitted dissatisfaction in the Russian labor ranks.

What may be stated as an undisputed fact is this:

The workers of the U.S.S.R., not unnaturally, have accepted with little grace Stalin's new "work discipline decrees" which involve wage cuts of as much as 15 per cent and demands for increases in production approximating 20 per cent.

From Riga, Warsaw, Berlin and other cities have come within the past week or more a constant stream of rumors and reports painting a dismal picture of working conditions in Stalin's Russia.

Typical Example

The following, received in Paris today from Moscow by a circuitous route, is a typical example:

The Moscow courts yesterday sentenced five offending workers to terms of imprisonment ranging from three to five years. They were convicted of assaulting the directors of their factory, who had discharged them for failing to fill the requirements of the new decrees.

"Orders have been issued for the immediate execution of all workers participating in terrorist activities. The OGPU (secret police) henceforth will rigorously supervise the applications of all workers eligible under the new decrees laws."

The dispatch declared that the execution order had come from the new "mystery man" of Soviet Russia, the recently-appointed all-powerful commissar for internal affairs, whose cabinet post automatically gives him command of the dreaded OGPU.

GASOLINE WAR IS ON AT ERIE, PA.

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Jan. 19.—A gasoline price war was in progress here today, with gasoline selling at thirteen cents a gallon.

The war started yesterday when Atlantic stations cut the price from seventeen to fifteen cents. This cut was met by other dealers, and Atlantic then dropped its price to thirteen cents today.

It was expected that all dealers will be retailing gas at thirteen cents, including state and federal tax, by Saturday.

Nightgown-Clad, She Plunges 11 Stories To Death

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 19.—Clad in a pink nightgown, Mrs. Mabel Wright Mitchell, 48, onetime secretary to former United States Senator Robert J. Bulkley and State Senator Frank E. Whittemore, leaped or fell to her death Wednesday from the eleventh floor of a hotel near the State House.

Her body struck eight floors below, on the roof of the ball room.

Coroner E. E. Smith, who had not reached a verdict, said he could find no one who saw her plunge from the window.

A search of her room disclosed four empty whisky bottles, another partly filled, 27 cents in money, and a hotel bill for $84. Dr. Smith said, Mrs. Mitchell had registered at the hotel Jan. 1.

Republican state headquarters reported she was given a job there, but, after two days, telephoned Thursday that she was too ill to report for duty.

Father John's Medicine was prescribed for the Reverend Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass. in 1855, and has been used for 84 years as a treatment for colds and coughs due to colds, and also as a proven body builder.

Canton Fireman Killed As Train Hits Automobile

CANTON, O., Jan. 19.—A city fireman was killed late last night and a woman passenger in his automobile was seriously injured when a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train hit the car at a crossing near the southwest city limits.

Witnesses told police that Leo J. Krause, 41, had stopped his automobile to allow a westbound train to clear the crossing and then pulled on the tracks in front of the east-bound passenger train.

Mrs. Grace Hawkins, who was riding with Krause, was taken to Aultman Hospital, where her condition was reported as serious.

Krause, a fireman here for nineteen years and driver of No. 6 Company's pumper truck, was thrown from the wreckage about 40 feet from where the car was hit. The motor was torn loose from the frame and hurled 100 feet away by the force of the impact.

SNOW LATE COMING TO WARD SECTION

Although it had been snowing almost all night in the up-town district, snow did not arrive in the Seventh ward until about 7 o'clock this morning.

Street car operators and motorists travelling to the ward remarked about the coincidence. At 6:30 o'clock this morning there was no snow from Mahoning avenue down through Mahoningtown, while up-town New Castle streets were covered with a coat of snow.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Workmen along Liberty street and Atlantic avenue have been pruning branches from the trees that have been interfering with the telephone wires on the poles along the roadway. After the branches are cut they are piled along the road and then burned.

An example of the fallacy of double parking along streets was seen in the Seventh Ward Wednesday, when two trucks featured in a minor accident. One of the trucks was double parked on Liberty street, and the truck coming along Liberty was unable to get past the parked vehicle and was also unable to stop on the ice, thus the accident.

School children from the Mahoning school find the Seventh Ward branch library a fine place to visit on Monday and Thursdays. According to the librarian a rush hour is experienced at the institution both at noon and after the close of school.

One of the few barns left standing in this city is found in the Seventh Ward. It belongs to Scanlons and is located between Madison avenue and Cherry street.

Probation System Is Under Fire In Allegheny County

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—Allegheny county's probation system drew the fire today of Judge Frank P. Patterson after he discovered an investigation requested last March had never been made.

The attack came about when Daniel Martino, 43, appeared before him for sentencing on a charge of having accepted $3,000 in state relief illegally. Judge Patterson sent to the probation department for a copy of Martino's previous record and then it was disclosed that no investigation had been made because of "too many cases for too few investigators."

"The question of costs is not so important," Judge Patterson commented in open court. "The salvaging of the character of first offenders should be our paramount work. Either the probation office force is inadequate or the administration is not doing all that can be done."

Judge Patterson deferred sentence on Martino, indicating he would go into the matter thoroughly.

No More Digging At South Park Commissioners Say

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—If there are any relics buried beneath the soil of South Park here, Allegheny county is going to keep them, it appeared today.

George S. Fisher, former chief of the state historical survey and a well-known archaeologist, told the county commissioners that he had discovered traces of an ancient race lying just a few feet underground, but that certain individuals were digging out the relics and shipping them to collectors out of Pennsylvania.

Ban Further Digging The commissioners immediately banned further digging in the area until an investigation can be made. Fisher explained, in a letter to the authorities, that he and another archaeologist, Glenn Hoskins, had uncovered broken pottery, arrow and spear points in South Park. These, he said, apparently were relics of mound builders of the Hopewell culture who inhabited Western Pennsylvania between 10,000 and 15,000 years ago.

"These things are invaluable," he said. "They belong to the taxpayers—and yet I know that certain individuals have gone in there and begun digging where they saw us dig and have the relics they found and sent them to collectors outside this state. It's robbery—pure robbery."

"News stories," says a critic, "are not literature." For instance, they often tell of murder, incest and depravity without locating it in the deep South.

Mayor-Works Head Will Be Called On 'Carpet' On Monday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—Mayor Cornelius D. Scully and public works director Frank Roessing were scheduled today to appear Monday before city council and answer charges made by James Brennan, business agent of the municipal employees union, that a number of undesirable characters were on the city's payroll.

Brennan threatened to call 385 city laborers out on strike unless 44 union men were reinstated on their jobs in the bureau of highways. The union agent presented councilmen with a list of names and said he was prepared to corroborate his charges against them with witnesses.

Hope For Crowd At Benefit Game Friday, New Castle Vs Alumni

Proceeds Will Help Defray Expenses Of Junior High Boys Injured In Football

Entire Free List Suspended For Friday Night, Washington-Franklin To Tangle

New Castle High School basketball team will play the Ne-Ca-Hi Alumni team at The Arena floor Friday night in a big benefit game for the junior high schools to help defray expenses of the boys injured in football last fall.

The first game Friday night at 7 o'clock will be a battle of rivals when George Washington Tigers comes down off the North Hill to tangle with the East Side Bulldogs of Franklin High and the fur is sure to fly. This will be a city title league game.

Free List Suspended

In connection with the game Friday night it has been announced by the Athletic Council of Senior High that the entire free list has been suspended for the Friday night benefit game, the boys who generally ride in on "Comps" will have to dig down this time to help the boys out of the hole. Also holders of season tickets will not be permitted to use them for the benefit game. It is strictly a benefit and no fooling.

In the Alumni lineup will be such well known stars as Coach Francis "Slim" Wainio, "Pop" Adams, Marion Snieczek, Henry Koszala, Eddie "Cash" Kozela, Dal Mumford, "Big Stoop" Ryglinski, Johnny Carik, Eddie Strausbaugh, Tom Carey, Elmer Wainio, Judd Kennedy, Bus Davis, Ben Webber, Harry Toscano and many others.

Reunion Of Stars

The Alumni will give the High team a real testing. Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will start his customary lineup with Clark and Genack getting the call for the forward spots, Ray Bombyk at center and Wenda and Lauro at the guards. This same lineup came from behind at Beaver Falls the other night to stage a sensational finish and win.

It will be a reunion at The Arena floor for the present and former New Castle High basketball stars. It's for a worthy cause and let's shell out for this game.

RESERVES WIN GAME

The K. Pulaski Reserves defeated the Greek Orthodox team of the New Castle Church league 38 to 21, in a game at the K. P. Hall on Tuesday night. In the preliminary game the Polish Eagles defeated the Lincoln Zephyrs, by the score of 42 to 35.

Judging from a newspaper report that has drifted north there is a pitcher south of the Mason-Dixon line who apparently has escaped observation. He is Paige Dennis of the Thomasville club in the North Carolina league. He is 30 years old. Last season he had 28 wins, including 10 shutouts and one no-hit classic—a record which included a 21-game winning streak. So far he has not received a "tumble" from big league scouts.

Family loyalty is a characteristic of Coach Charles Campbell of Van Wert, O. High school's football team. During the recent football season his parents traveled nearly 2,000 miles to watch their son's team play. They reside 130 miles from Van Wert and did not miss one game, away or at home in the three year reign of their son.

There'll be some air of excitement when Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien meet on opposing teams in a grid game for charity in San Francisco, January 29. Baugh will lead an All-Pro array of National football league stars and O'Brien will lead a squad of all-coast and all-American senior collegiate gridgers.

Joe Louis and John Henry Lewis clash one week from tonight in New York. Louis will defend his world's heavyweight boxing championship. While Lewis is the more scientific, Louis is expected to "take" the light-heavyweight champion.

Harold Williams, backfield coach at Pitt, will confer with Coach Josh Cody, Florida U. in regards to one of two coaching vacancies. . . . Slippery Rock and Westminster clash in basketball at Slippery Rock next Tuesday night. . . . Patty Berg rode three strokes ahead of the field in the Augusta titlist golf tourney. She turned in an 83 that gave her an aggregate of 239 with only 18 more holes to go. Dorothy Kirby carded an 82 and turned in an aggregate of 245.

West Virginia beat Temple at Morgantown in a basketball game last night, 42 to 33. . . . Tiff Denton, Kansas City, won from Charles McCourt, Cleveland, 106 to 87, Wednesday, in the round-robin national three-cushion billiards tourney at Cleveland.

Should Van Mungo do more fire-eating and less fire-eating, he can pitch for the Dodgers for a salary of $5,000 this year. If he does not, he is not wanted, according to Lippy Durocher, manager. . . . Eddie Phillips, catcher for Buffalo, International League club, will manage Wilkes-Barre, Eastern League club, this year.

A post-card from Jimmie Dunn reports he is at Palm Springs, Cal. "Just like Cascade Park," writes Jimmie, whose friends claim has been quite negligent in using a pen for some time. Dunn is managing fighters in Los Angeles.

Local sport stuff . . . The Keystone A. C. cagers, piloted by "Cool" Venditto, have rung up one of the most enviable marks of the season . . . To date, the Keys have won twelve straight setts . . . Boardman was the lone foe able to check the locals . . . After a lapse of several years, Grove City and Westminster College resumed football relations last fall . . . The Polish Falcons gave the crack St. Mary's outfit of Beaver Falls more than a run for their money recently, in fact, the valleyites were lucky to win . . . With seconds left, Hurley, former Geneva star, dropped a goal from centerfield someplace to edge out the Falcs . . .

Spotless floor records . . . I think a perfect record in basketball is about the toughest assignment in sportsland . . . As far as I can remember, I don't believe New Castle high was ever able to end the hardwood season with an undefeated or untied mark . . . In collegiate ranks, "Doc" Carlson's Pitt University machine of either 1928-29 or 1929-30, spearheaded by Charney Hyatt, did the trick . . . Lately, Long Island University came up with all victories, in 1935-36 . . . One reason is the change of floors . . . A home team has a decided edge in basketball, more so than in any other sport . . . The inconsistency of aggregations is another deciding factor . . . A team is on today and way off tomorrow . . . An example was the two drubbings taken by Purdue this week, one at the hands of Iowa, easily the weakest sister in the Big Ten race, and Minnesota's setback by Northwestern after the Gophers had won 20 straights . . .

Short story about a horse . . . The thundering hoofs neared the finish line as the crowd roared. One of the gee-gees, in making a last desperate lunge for the finish line, stepped into a hole and fell heavily, fracturing his leg. While the smiling ticket holders stepped up to collect their winnings on the 6 year old gelding, the puffing horse was shot. Wrenace scored its third straight victory in as many starts in Florida, last Saturday, the last triumph it will ever score on any track . . .

Not that it makes any difference but—The safety play has been barred in the National Three Cushion billiard tournament being staged this week . . . Montana, Nevada, Vermont, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Maine, Rhode Island and Colorado are the only states which do not have professional baseball franchises . . . Marquette University hasn't lost a basketball game at home in two years . . . Titans Defeated By Waynesburg

Westminster Drops Second
Cage Battle By 71-56
Count Last Night

(Special To The News)
WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 19.—Waynesburg and Westminster College set up some kind of a scoring mark here Wednesday evening as the Yellow Jackets handed the Titans a defeat, 71-56.

Despite the fact that 127 points were scored, the contest proved one of the hardest fought of the season. Waynesburg grabbed an early lead which the Westminster sphere handlers soon decided. The Jackets then drew ahead, never to be overtaken. At halftime Waynesburg left the floor with a 41-30 lead.

Westminster threatened to overcome their loss in the third quarter. The Titans were well on their way when suddenly the Jackets found their bearings and marched on to victory. Joe Hettr, Titan star guard, found the nets for 18 markers, followed by Miller, Wilson and Spak, who accounted for 31 markers. Summers, with 18, and Pasquale with 15 points, led the attack for the powerful Waynesburg hoopers.

Westminster's next contest finds the Titans battling Youngstown College at Youngstown, Wednesday, February 1.

THEY'RE IN HEAVYWEIGHT PICTURE

Max Baer and Red Burman

Two fellows very much in the heavyweight limelight just now are Max Baer, left, the Livermore, Cal., family man, and Red Burman of Baltimore, who has just joined the ranks of those who have beaten Tommy Farr. Baer is regarded as the key man in the heavyweight situation, and Burman's stock went up slightly because of his victory over the Welshman who has not won a fight in this country.

Galento-Brescia Fight Tonight

Jorge Brescia Is Sweet Boxer
And Puncher, But Has Been Inactive Lately

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 19.—Tony Galento, squat, round, baldish contradiction to everything you've heard about the body beautiful among heavyweight gladiators, stands today within a few left hooks of a return to New York's pugilistic big time, and the betting odds were running for him at the rate of 2 to 1 and better. Jorge Brescia is expected to succumb sooner or later in Newark's ancient armory tonight.

A sweet boxer and still sweeter puncher with his right hand when he is in the mood to fight, Brescia hasn't been getting anywhere to speak of since the night a couple of years ago when Joe Louis landed on his chops, and if the thing is played strictly to script he will be stiffened again before this evening's performance has gone its scheduled 10 rounds.

Thus would Galento clinch above the now almost inaudible dispute of New York's Promoter Mike Jacobs a fight at Madison Square Garden on March 10, with Tommy Farr.

Section 20 Teams Battle On Friday

Union Township Hopes To Blot
Clean Record Of Bessemer
High Passers

Section 20 teams resume their fight for honors on Friday evening. Bessemer's league leading five visits Scotland Lane for a tussle with Union township in one of the important engagements of the night. The blue and white sphere handlers are primed for their game with the Cement City passers, who disposed of Shenango township Tuesday night to arise to the top of the circuit. Bessemer feels confident of keeping its league standing spotless.

A Union victory would draw the league lead into another deadlock affair. New Wilmington, fresh from its startling triumph over Greenville, hopes to remain in the thick of the fight for honors by adding Wampum to the victory list. The battle is slated for New Wilmington. East Brook takes a jaunt to Wampum, while Shenango enjoys a much needed rest.

You lose a friend if you are a partner in his sin. He never forgives you for knowing how rotten he is.

York Market During
Morning TransactionsBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The stock market displayed an easy tone today in a continuation of the uncertain trend of the last few sessions.

Prices slipped further through the first hour. A steadier tendency of many points of mid-day and some losses were cut. Price changes were largely fractional and trading quiet.

There were a few issues that bucked the trend. Loft went to a new high in active dealings. Nickel Plate preferred was strong and the common higher. Merchandise issues were steady. Johns Manville and Union Carbide were higher.

Early declines in steel, running to nearly a point in Crucible, were mostly erased. Fractional losses ruled in motor shares. Aviation shares were under scattered pressure at the start and then steadied.

Ralls opened easy and then firmed up. Utilities showed a steady undertone.

Among the larger losses were declines of a point and more in Good-year, Allied Chemical, and Crude de Pasco.

Commodities were dull. Cotton was steady and grains were mixed.

Brubaker Must Keep His Father For Six Months

Pirate Third Sacker Ordered By Court To Pay Father $25.00 Per Month

(International News Service) LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Wilbur Brubaker, third baseman for the Pittsburgh Pirates, today was under court order to pay his father $25 a month support for the next six months—but he had the sympathy of the judge who ordered it.

Although Judge Thomas Gould granted the funds to the 60-year-old father, Charles L. Brubaker, the court declared itself out of sympathy with Brubaker's demand.

"We have the situation of a father who has worn out his welcome with all members of his family," remarked Judge Gould.

"I do not believe his health is in such condition he can not earn his own living, and I am making this award only temporary."

Brubaker, a distinguished appearing man, styled himself as an investment counsellor without funds. He said he was constantly in search of work.

His sor testified he had supported himself since he was 15 and had worked his way through college. His mother said her husband, whom she divorced a year ago, had failed to provide for the family.

President's Ball Tickets In Demand

Three centrally-located ticket depots today were established to handle the sales of tickets for the President's ball in the Cathedral Saturday evening, January 28, Francis M. Hammond, chairman of the affair, announced.

Tickets—at $1 per couple—may be obtained at Paisley's, the Fleming Music store and the A. C. Hyde drug store at 112 North Liberty street in the Seventh ward. The dance will be informal.

Yes, the great swindlers are "darned foreigners." But they didn't prosper so long without the protection of nice native-born officials.

Danielle Darrieux Coming Back To Hollywood Films

By MILTON HARKER
(Copyright, 1939, by International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19.—Danielle Darrieux definitely is coming back for another chunk of that $800,000 Universal Studios still has waiting for her.

You can take that from her producer, Joe Pasternak.
"She'll leave Paris in time to reach here March 15 and she'll go into a picture immediately," Pasternak informs this reporter.

He scoffed at rumors Danielle will forego further Hollywood commitments because of a Paris court ruling she must do four pictures for a French studio.

Danielle already has been paid more than $200,000 under her five-year $1,000,000 Universal contract. She got $90,000 of it for cooling her heels for five months while the studio sought a leading man for "The Rage of Paris."

There'll be no delay this time. The studio has three pictures ready for her, "Rio," "Half An American" and "Almost An Angel."

She's expected to make two of them before she returns to France again.
Here's news for the ladies. Joe Valentine, beauty expert on Deanna Durbin's new picture, "Three Smart Girls Grow Up," in conjunction with Jack Pierce, studio make-up chief, has prepared a new screen make-up which may revolutionize all cosmetics.

In contrast to the present brown, the new make-up is colorless, but of chameleon effect. It takes on the natural coloring of its subject and accentuates it. The present make-up in use for many years, is inclined to give a sameness to all people.

Very few screen players can go before the camera without makeup. Virginia Bruce is one of the notable exceptions. As the other extreme, Myrna Loy wears a very heavy makeup to cover her freckles. Valentine declares the new make-up will be adaptable for every day wear. He says it is superior to other makes because it will not crack. Deanna is wearing it in her picture as the first test. All others are using the old.

It's all like one big family out at Republic now that the studio is making the biggest picture in its history. The picture is "Man of Conquest," the story of the life of Sam Houston, with Richard Dix playing Houston.

It started out with a $750,000 budget, but the total cost probably will be nearer $1,000,000. Money isn't being spared at any point, and everybody working for Republic jokingly tells you they'll go without lunch if any more is needed. The most the studio ever spent on a picture before was $400,000, for "Army Girl."

The public seems to want action. They'll get it in this picture. The battle of the Alamo was shot on location near Stockton, Cal. At the moment they are working in a log cabin on a sound stage. Dix, Robert Armstrong, portraying Jim Bowie, inventor of the famous knife, and Robert Barrett, playing David Crockett, are fighting off an Indian attack. It's all very thrilling.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal
No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germladen phlegm.
Even if other medicine has failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from either trial or large size. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)
